PHYSICAL DESCRIPTION:

This house, c. 1880, is a vernacular house with Italian-style detailing. It is a three-story, end gabled (asphalt shingles), stucco-clad building with a one-story rear addition. The 30' by 30' house has three bays and a full length hipped roofed front porch. Fenestration consists of 2 over 2 light sash windows with flanking windows on the first floor, three on the second floor, and 3 smaller, frieze band windows on the third floor. Each window and the main entrance include a decorative curved wooden pediment and block sill. The door also contains a transom. A stucco-clad chimney (probably for an oil furnace) is located on the eastern end.

Classification: The house is Class II.
